Maddy Webb

Maddy has worked in primary education for the majority of her career. She has always taught in London and joined Southwark in 2006.

Maddy retired as the headteacher of Grange Primary School in Southwark in 2018 and for a short while was interim part-time Headteacher at Beormund Primary School. She is now an education and leadership consultant, using some of her spare time to bring leadership and governance experience to Friars.

Maddy's role as a partnership governor benefits the children of Friars due to her detailed and incisive understanding of pupil achievement. Where possible, links are forged between schools she works with and Friars to facilitate and support the best outcomes for all.
