

Caroline Henno

Caroline's daughter Emma joined Friars Primary Foundation School in September 2016.

Caroline currently works as an Associate Account Director at IBM enabling clients from different industries across Europe on the best way to define their digital marketing strategy and achieve their objectives.

In the past she worked as a youth worker in various summer play schemes and as an assistant teacher in a nursery for a year.

Outside of work she plays basketball with "Southwark Storm basketball" and coaches at Notre Dame secondary school once a week. She also sings with the Kennington Community Choir.

Caroline is used to working with teams on their overall strategy from design thinking to prioritization accordingly with their budget and resources.

She understands the importance of a clear, transparent and ethical strategy and has a good understanding of financial information.

Along with being approachable and friendly, she is committed to listening to parents' concerns, views and wishes and is a trusted spokesperson at school meetings.
