Dear Parents

World Book Day

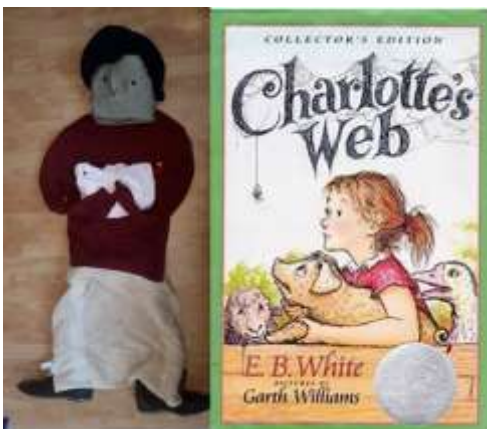

We are looking forward to World Book Day which is on Thursday 4th March this year. The aim, as usual, is to celebrate the joy of reading. Google classroom timetables will be more reading-based on the day.

Children will be able to dress up as favourite characters from literature if they want to for the Google Meets. Children will also be able to create laundry art to represent their favourite book character (have a look at some examples below – it's easier than it sounds!). Mr Tull will also post an activity onto every class page on the day to introduce the idea of laundry art to the children. Teachers will be encouraging children to take a photo of their art, upload onto Google classroom and then be shared at the afternoon Google Meet.

World Book Day tokens are digital this year. The link that parents will need will can be found here: https://www.worldbookday.com/wp-content/uploads/2021/01/booktoken_PrimaryUK.pdf. The list of books that are being offered for £1 this year can be found at: <https://www.worldbookday.com/books/>. Parents can still use the voucher to cover part of the cost of a more expensive book if they wish, as per usual. We will also give out printed vouchers to children on March 8th. Vouchers cannot be redeemed online but can be used at booksellers (most big supermarkets included). They can be used up until the end of March.

Yours sincerely,

Justin Burt
